###

Threshold Enterprises Company Background

For over four decades, Threshold has been committed to offering consumers the future of vibrant health. Founded in 1978, Threshold's name represents the innovative movement in natural healthcare that was, at that time, in its infancy. As one of California's premier manufacturers and distributors, Threshold's products are currently distributed to more than 6,000 retailers throughout the United States and to international markets.

Threshold understands the human body has the innate ability to restore itself to a state of healthful equilibrium if given the proper tools: safe and effective nutritional compounds and botanicals that the body already recognizes. From the beginning, Threshold has dedicated itself to providing those natural healthcare tools—searching the globe for only the best products for its customers.

Today we stand at the threshold of a revolution in wellness. What began as small groups of individuals working on the fringes of society has entered the national consciousness. This transformation in health consciousness also includes new perspectives in diet, lifestyle, emotional and spiritual development, and complementary healthcare. This revolution is poised to become a mass movement on a scale beyond anything imagined 40 years ago.

Threshold, as a leading company within this movement, has grown tremendously over the past 40 years, moving from only a small group of product offerings, to today, working with more than 450 national brands and offering over 18,000 products.

Over the years, Threshold was among the first to introduce consumers to amazing nutritional compounds and botanicals, such as chlorella, spirulina, ginkgo, and melatonin. Later on, we would be early leaders and advocates for krill oil, resveratrol, triphala, and phosphatidyl serine.

Threshold was also among the first national distributors of many brands, which include: Bach Flower Essences, AnneMarie Borlind, Champion Nutrition, Earthrise, Essiac International, Green Foods Corporation, Health from the Sun, Peter Gillham's Natural Vitality, Pines Wheat Grass, Emerita, Rainbow Light, Wakunaga/Kyolic, Yerba Prima, and Zand.

Threshold is and always has been a passionate advocate for the natural products industry. In addition to actively participating in lobbying and other efforts to influence legislation, Threshold also firmly believes that knowledgeable consumers are the greatest asset for a change in health consciousness.

Threshold was a primary participant in the campaign for the passage of the Dietary Supplement Health and Education Act (DSHEA) in 1994. This revolutionary act recognizes the importance of nutritional supplements and allows manufacturers of dietary supplements to educate the public with scientifically backed structure and function information. At a time when accurate information regarding natural products in the mass media is limited, Threshold believes in the importance of education, providing consumers with the opportunity to make wise health decisions.

This is an exciting moment in the history of natural healthcare. Dramatic increases in the use of supplements and natural body care products attest to the appeal of nature-based health systems. Decades of investigation into nutritional science, biochemistry, and genetics have provided the necessary tools to actively intervene in the aging process, in order to mitigate or prevent the health imbalances that cause so much world suffering.

As the world moves towards a change in health consciousness, Threshold continues to be dedicated to offering its customers the optimal wellness everyone deserves.
